

105.1040 G.T.P./Solidor

Operative G T Purdy

Oct. 7th, 1926

Re: Jane Gibson

Operative went to Hoboken, N.J. in an effort to locate Mrs. John Solidor, who was formerly Mrs. McWilliams. Met an old timer who remembered the woman. He did not know where she was at present, but gave me the address where I could find her brother, Fred Solidor, 121 Washington St. Hoboken, N.J.

At this address operative interviewed a Mrs. Dahmer, who stated that Fred Solidor was doing a job on the roof at 114 Washington Street. Operative went to the roof of his house and interviewed Fred Solidor. He stated that he does not know where his sister is living, but gave me the name of Mrs. Robertson, 121 Washington St., whom he said would be able to give some information regarding the whereabouts of his sister.

Operative interviewed Mrs. Robertson, who stated that Mrs. Solidor is now Mrs. Siebert and that she was living at 328 Gordon St., Hoboken. Operative went there and interviewed Mr. Siebert, who stated that Mrs. Siebert was not home as she was working and would be in about 6 P.M. He stated that she works for some wealthy family, but he did not know their name or where they lived. I left telling him I would try to see her to-morrow.

Respectfully submitted:

G.T.P.